“dedicated to preserving the German Shepherd Dog as a healthy, structurally-sound working dog with the appropriate temperament & drives to perform almost any task.”

ABOUT US:

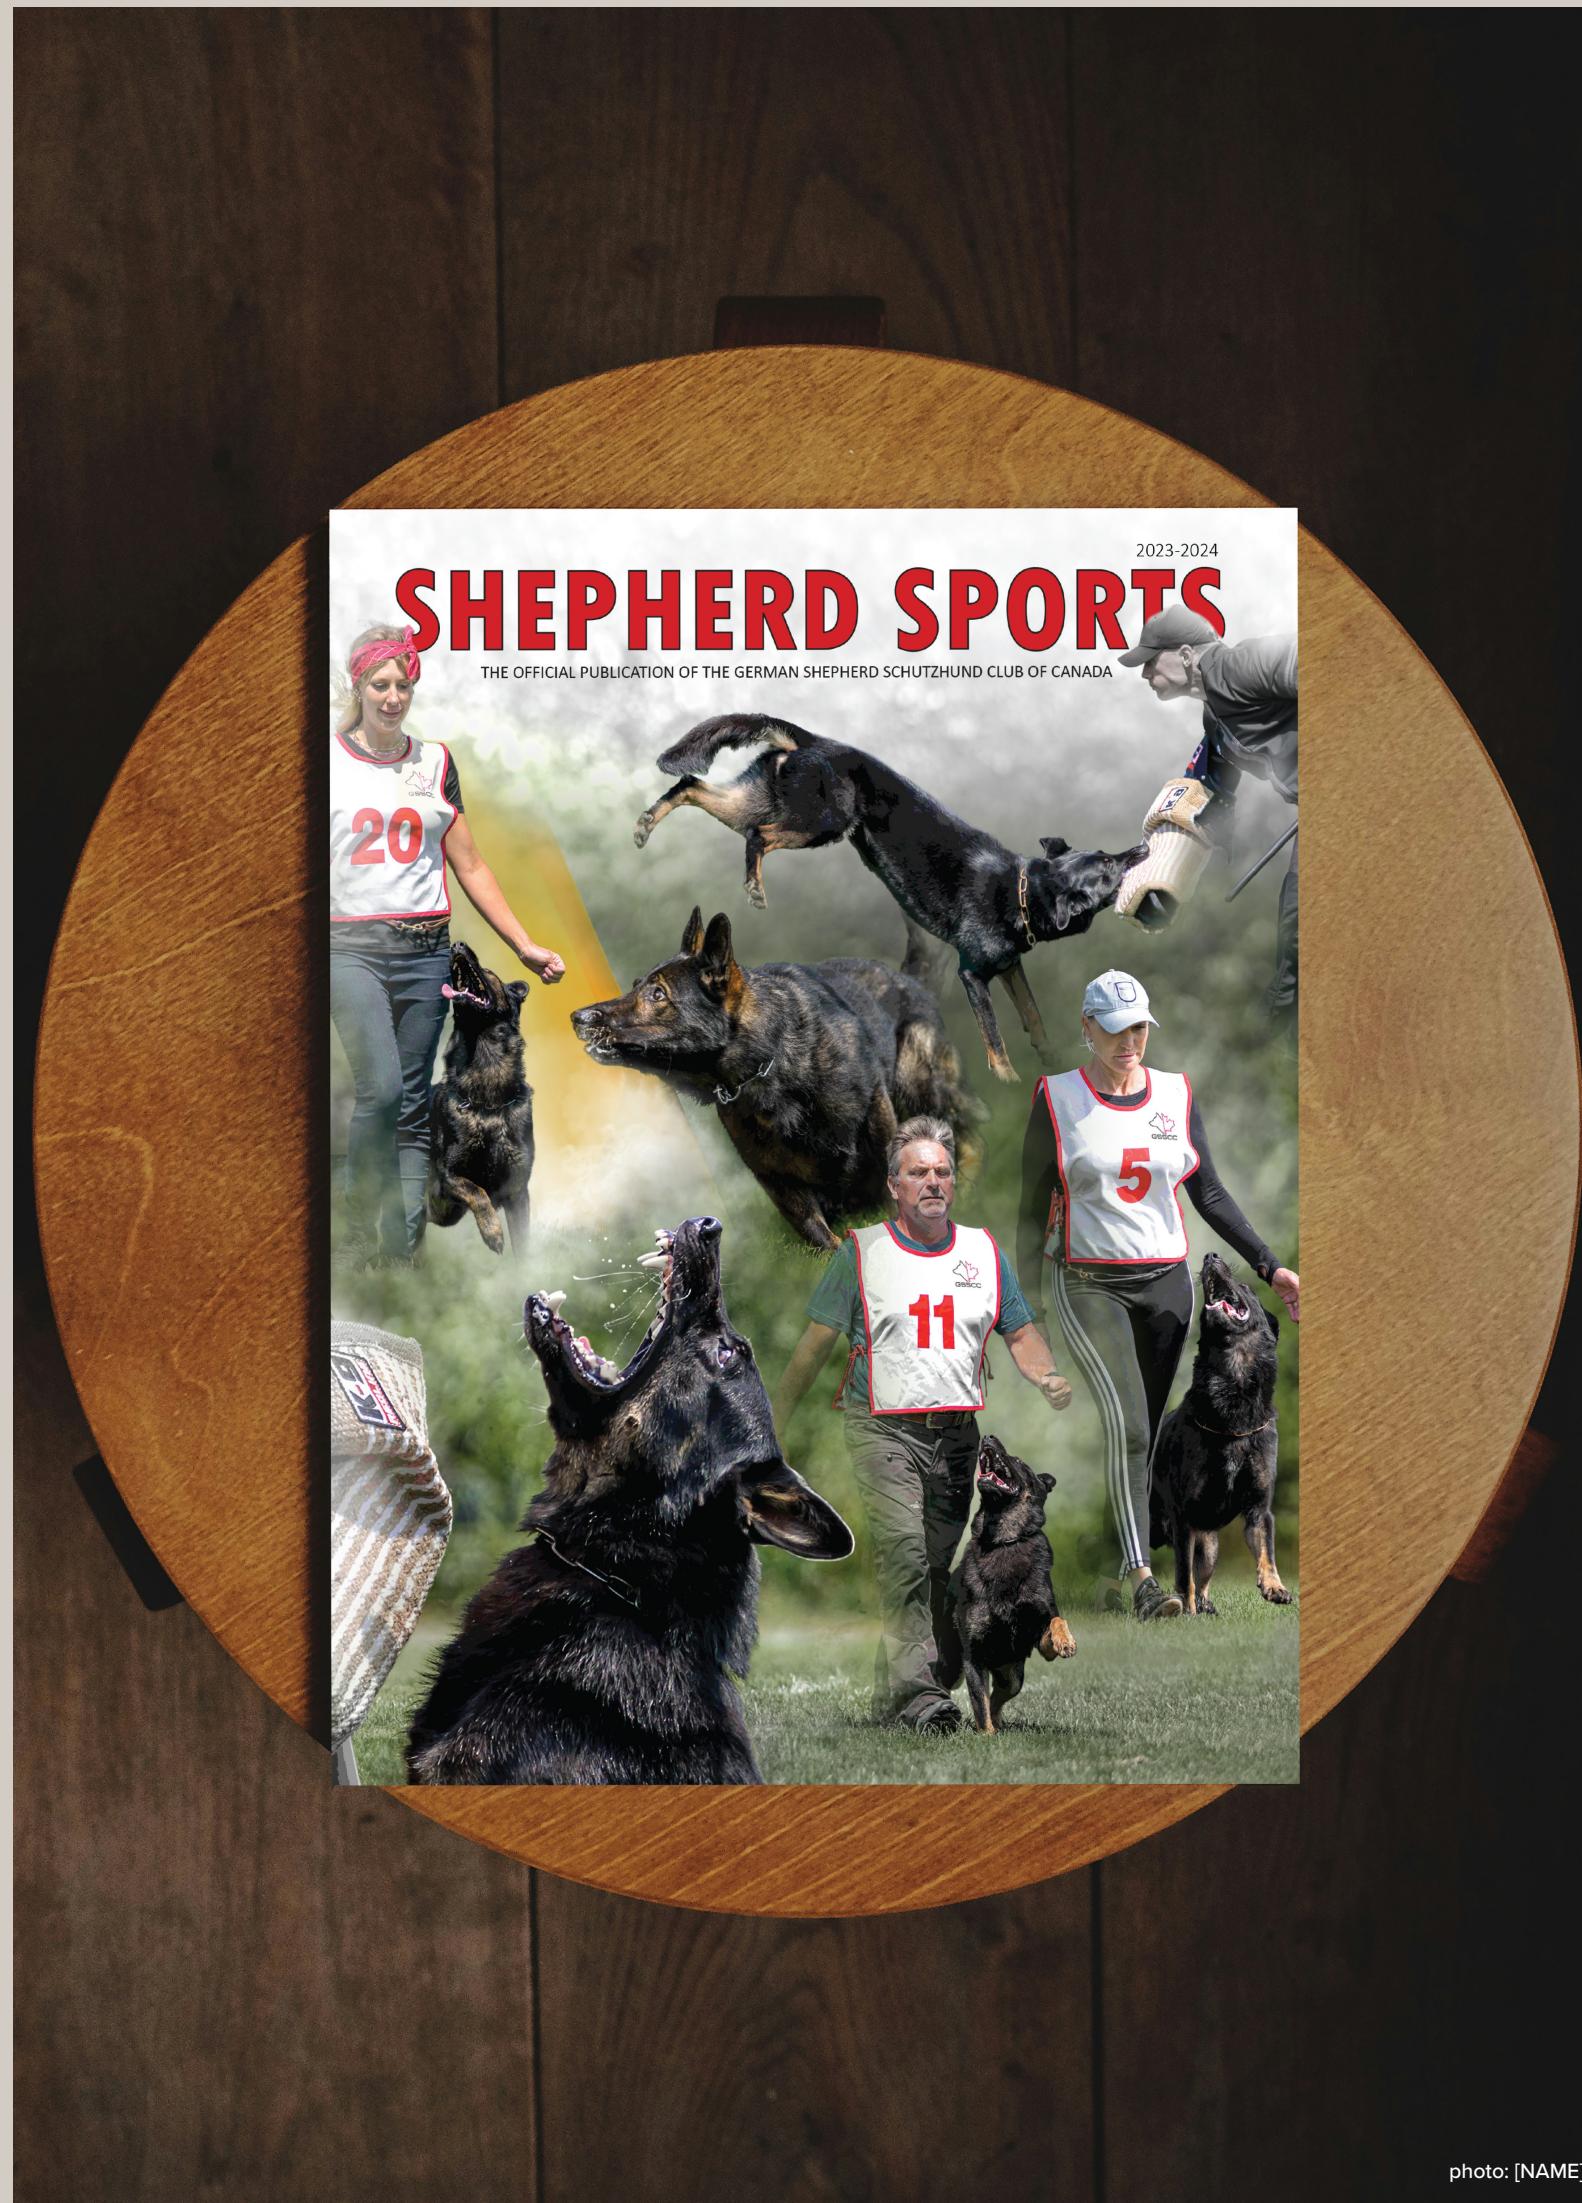

The German Shepherd Schutzhund Club of Canada (GSSCC) is the Canadian organization dedicated to preserving the German Shepherd Dog as a healthy, structurally-sound working dog with the appropriate temperament and drives to perform almost any task.

The GSSCC is a corporation of clubs (around 40 clubs) from every part of Canada. The goals are directed toward the promotion of the German Shepherd Dog. We believe that the German Shepherd Dog must demonstrate structural soundness while maintaining the breed's ability to work.

German Shepherd Dogs should have trainability, courage, the willingness to defend and protect. We believe that an effective way to select the kind of temperament and structure we value is to test the dogs in the sport of Schutzhund/IGP. Because we value good structure and temperament, in addition to encouraging sport competition, we urge our members to participate in shows and breed surveys to obtain a judgement regarding the dog's structure and movement.

OUR PURPOSE:

- Improve the structure & temperament of the GSD.
- Uphold the standards of the German Shepherd Dog as approved by the World Union of German Shepherd Dog Clubs.
- Conduct conformation shows and Breed Surveys according to the WUSV standard.
- Provide guidelines in breeding for its members and all owners and breeders of German Shepherd Dogs, educate the public in regard to the importance of strong steady temperament as a prerequisite in breeding programs.
- Promote standardized Schutzhund training for German Shepherd Dogs.
- Promote Schutzhund training among the youth.
- Conduct Schutzhund trials according to VDH (German Dog Clubs) rules.
- Promote responsible, sportsmanlike behavior by our membership.
- Upgrade the knowledge and expertise of its members in the areas of structure, temperament, and training.
- Provide advice, assistance, and encouragement to groups and individuals interested in becoming German Shepherd Schutzhund Club of Canada members.
- Conduct an annual Canadian German Shepherd Dog IGP3 Championship and Sieger Show.
- Develop and maintain a Canadian Judges Training Program in performance and conformation.

Shepherd Sports Magazine

Shepherd Sports is the official voice of the German Shepherd Schutzhund Club of Canada. This annual magazine aims to showcase the power/excellence of Canadian working dogs at all levels of competition from across the country, be a source of information for canine health and fitness, highlight an individual or a group of people in various roles of the sport (helpers, handlers, judges, clubs, etc.) as well as keep the membership informed on various events for the sport at large.
